Support Our Stephanie fundraising efforts

Dyno Nobel held fundraising events in their Salt Lake City office in support of one of their own employees, Stephanie Park, who is fighting an inoperable tumor on her optic nerve and could not work.

Dyno Nobel supported the Huntsman 5K as individuals and as a company earlier in 2018 and at that time, they had no idea that one of their own employees would soon need the same type of care. Stephanie works at the front desk at Tradestar, an equipment manufacturer for Dyno Nobel. She coordinates all training and meetings and arranges lunch and snacks.

As a company, Dyno Nobel began a fundraiser called 'Support Our Stephanie / SOS' to help Stephanie and her family. The fundraising events and activities ran from October to November of last year and helped raise $12,000 for the family, which included Dyno Nobel's match. They held a box lunch and bake sale, ice cream social and DIFFERENTIAL ENERGY truck viewing, chili cook-off, costume contest for Halloween, and a large raffle. They also collected donation jars, "give-it-up" pledges, where employees could offer something to give, such as vacation day donations, and created a GoFundMe page to support the cause. This support helped Stephanie and her family in their time of need. She is now back to work part-time and can use the vacation donations towards her previous time off.
